Question 1

International Civil Aviation Organisation

The International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO), a United Nations (UN) Specialised Agency, is the global forum for passenger aviation.

ICAO works to achieve its vision of safe, secure and sustainable development of passenger aviation through co-operation amongst its 189 member countries.

The Organisation has established the following Strategic Objectives for the period 2005-2010:

- enhance global passenger aviation safety and security
- minimise the adverse effect of global civil aviation on the environment
- strengthen law governing international civil aviation
- enhance the efficiency of aviation operations
- pioneer the ‘Simplifying Passenger Travel’ project in conjunction with their industry partners, International Air Transport Association (IATA).

The Civil Aviation community comprises four main members - countries, aviation operators, airports and customers. The primary interest of Contracting States is full compliance with laws and regulations. The focus of the operators is to increase productivity. Airports are interested in reducing congestion in passenger terminals, whilst customers of air transport want quality service, which means being allowed to proceed through airports with minimal delay and difficulty. The ‘Simplifying Passenger Travel’ initiative uses biometrics, including iris scan, facial recognition, hand geometry and fingerprinting, in order to speed travellers through immigration formalities at airports.

An important function of the ICAO is to work towards the goal of a more efficient, orderly and attractive transportation product.

Fig. 1

Refer to Fig. 1.

(a) The International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO) is the global forum for passenger aviation.

(i) Identify the two ICAO Strategic Objectives that have passenger needs as a focus.

1.

2.

[2]
(ii) Describe the main purpose of the ‘Simplifying Passenger Travel’ initiative.

........................................................................................................................................... [2]

(iii) Explain two reasons why it is important to the civil aviation industry to create a ‘more efficient, orderly and attractive transportation product’.

1 ........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

2 ........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................ [6]

(b) The growth in services to new long-haul destinations has opened up the international business market, with many multi-national organisations taking advantage of an increased number of flights.

Discuss ways in which airlines may cater for the needs of business travellers.

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................

........................................................................................................................................ [6]
(c) Evaluate the impact that increased levels of business tourism have on destinations.

[9]

[Total: 25]
City Tours in Japan

Experience life in Tokyo and Kyoto with a two-city tour.

PACKAGES INCLUDE:
- Return flights via Japan Airlines from a choice of three departure points in the United States of America
- Airline fuel surcharge
- 5 nights accommodation on a shared-twin basis, including local tax and service charges
- All local transfers.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>City / Hotel</th>
<th>Departure City</th>
<th>Single Room Supplement</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>New York</td>
<td>Chicago</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tokyo Crowne Plaza</td>
<td>$1 316</td>
<td>$1 316</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tokyo Le Meridien</td>
<td>$1 413</td>
<td>$1 377</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tokyo Imperial Hotel</td>
<td>$1 645</td>
<td>$1 681</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTES:
- Other cities such as Sapporo, Kanazawa, Yokohama, Hiroshima, Fukuoka and Okinawa are also available
- Upgrades to First Class and Business Class are also available
- Return flight may be extended
- Other points of departure in the U.S. may be available.

Fig. 2 (a)
Refer to Fig. 2 (a).

(a) Many tourists will use packages such as those advertised in Fig. 2 (a) when visiting Japan.

(i) Identify four components included in the price of these holiday packages.

1 .................................................................

2 .................................................................

3 .................................................................

4 ................................................................. [4]

(ii) Describe three ways in which these City Tour packages can be differentiated, in order to appeal to a range of customer types.

1 ....................................................................

...........................................................................

..........................................................................................

2 ...........................................................................

...........................................................................

..........................................................................................

3 ...........................................................................

...........................................................................

..........................................................................................

................................................................................... [6]
The Japan National Tourist Organisation (JNTO)

The Japan National Tourist Organisation (JNTO) is a public-private partnership operating within Japan's Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport, with the mission to encourage international travel to Japan and to support Japanese travel suppliers.

Guide Services

Goodwill Guides

The Goodwill Guide Group is a volunteer association with over 40,000 members across Japan. These volunteer guides are available to share their knowledge of sites and attractions, provide guided walking tours and to assist with other travel-related queries. In principle the service is free of charge, however participants are requested to meet the costs of their guide's transportation, meals and miscellaneous costs.

Contact your nearest JNTO office for a list of Goodwill Guide Groups in Japan
Visit the JNTO Tokyo web site for more information.

Professional Guides

English, French, Spanish, German, Chinese, Italian, Portuguese and Russian speaking guides/interpreters can be hired through travel agents, major hotels or via the Japan Guide Association. Charges for guide/interpreter services depend on the level of expertise required and the length of the assignment. Average rates are in the range of 25,000 - 40,000 Yen per day exclusive of the guide’s transportation, meal and accommodation costs, which must also be met.

Fig. 2 (b)

Refer to Fig. 2(b).

(b) Many international leisure travellers will use the services of a guide who speaks their own language when they visit a destination such as Japan for the first time.

Discuss the different types of guiding services available to visitors to countries such as Japan.
(c) The Japan National Tourist Organisation (JNTO) has offices in Europe, North America, Asia and Australia and operates four international Tourist Information Centres in Japan, as well as 96 local travel information centres across Japan.

Evaluate, using examples, the range of tourism products and services that organisations, such as Japan National Tourism Organisation, provide for international visitors.
PeruRail

PeruRail links most of the tourist highlights of the Andes in Peru and is the most spectacular way to discover the ancient land of the Incas, taking travellers through scenery of outstanding beauty and to places almost inaccessible by any other means.

PeruRail operates a variety of trains, each offering a different level of service and different classes of travel.

The Hiram Bingham provides a luxury train service consisting of four carriages - 2 dining cars, a bar car and a kitchen car. The price of the journey includes onboard meals with drinks, entertainment, guides, bus transfers, entrance to The Ruins and afternoon tea at Machu Picchu Sanctuary Lodge.

The Backpacker service has been created for more adventurous passengers, those on a limited budget or for those seeking comfort and security, without all the frills. These carriages offer travellers a true Peruvian experience. Snacks are served on this service and additional storage space is available for backpacks.

The Andean Explorer is decorated in the fine manner of the great Pullman trains of the 1920s, including dining cars and an open-air observation-bar car, which is unique in South America. Passengers are served a three course lunch in the dining car followed by coffee served in the observation-bar car. This service unites two of Peru’s top tourist destinations, operating in the style associated with other international Orient-Express services.

Fig. 3
Refer to Fig. 3.

(a) Peru has become a popular destination with overseas, adventure-seeking leisure travellers. PeruRail caters for the travel needs of a significant number of visitors to this country, reaching parts of the country inaccessible to other modes of transport.

(i) Explain the term adventure-seeking leisure traveller.

(ii) Identify two features of the Backpacker rail service offered by PeruRail.

1
2 [2]

(iii) Suggest and explain two reasons for the popularity of rail travel in Peru.

1
2 [6]

(b) PeruRail, like many other travel and tourism providers, operates a seasonal tariff rate.

Assess the benefits of using peak and off-peak tariffs for both the transport provider and the customer.
(c) PeruRail uses an online booking system.

Evaluate the use of Computer Reservation Systems (CRS) as a distribution channel for this type of travel provider.

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

[9]

[Total: 25]
Question 4

Queen Mary 2 is the largest, longest, tallest and most expensive passenger ship in the Cunard fleet.

- Food and Drink
  - 24-hour Room Service
  - Britannia Restaurant
  - Chart Room Lounge & Bar
  - La Piazza Italian Restaurant
  - Lotus Asian Cuisine
  - The Carvery
  - Winter Garden High Tea

- Entertainment
  - Ballroom
  - Children's Play Area
  - Dance Floor
  - Youth & Teen Centres

- Services
  - Art Gallery
  - Library
  - Medical centre
  - Planetarium
  - Shops
  - Shore Excursion Office

- Relaxation
  - Spa
  - Splash Pool
  - Steam Room
  - Terrace Pool
  - Whirlpool

- Fitness
  - Aerobics
  - Deck Sports
  - Fitness Centre
  - Gym

- Technology
  - Interactive TV
  - Internet Access

---

Fig. 4
Refer to Fig. 4, an information leaflet about the Queen Mary 2 cruise ship.

(a) (i) Give two examples of products or services made available to customers of the Queen Mary 2 cruise ship.

1
2 [2]

(ii) Using only information from Fig. 4, explain two aspects of the appeal of the Queen Mary 2 cruise ship.

1
2 [4]

(b) State two ancillary services that a travel agency may offer customers booking a cruise holiday. Explain why the travel agency offers each of these services.

1
2 [4]

(c) Discuss the impact of increasing cruise ship size on ports of call.

[6]
(d) Cruise ships are an example of an all-inclusive holiday. Evaluate the reasons for the growth in popularity of such all-inclusive holidays.