This document consists of 4 printed pages.

Section A

Answer this question.

1 Demand for oil in India

India is the world's seventh-largest consumer of oil. Demand for oil could more than double in the next 15 years because of strong industrial growth and increasing numbers of Indians who will be able to afford to buy cars and motorcycles. As demand grows, so will India's dependence on imports. India imports around 70% of its oil.

- (a) Explain using a demand and supply diagram what the article says will be the likely change in the market for oil in India in the next 15 years. [5]
- (b) (i) Where would the purchase of foreign oil be recorded in India's balance of payments? [3]
(ii) Explain two possible disadvantages to the Indian economy of its dependence on imported oil. [4]
- (c) The article says there will be 'strong industrial growth'.
(i) Explain what is meant by strong industrial growth. [2]
(ii) Discuss the possible effects of strong industrial growth. [6]

Section B

Answer three questions.

- 2 Sometimes in an industry a firm buys a smaller competitor which uses similar factors of production. At other times a firm buys another firm which supplies it with the raw materials and other inputs for its production.
- (a) Explain what is meant by the factors of production. [4]
 - (b) Discuss the reasons why some firms remain small. [6]
 - (c) Identify the types of integration in the two situations described above. [3]
 - (d) Discuss whether such integration is always beneficial. [7]
- 3
- (a) Explain the terms scarcity and opportunity cost. [4]
 - (b) Describe the factors that affect an individual's choice of occupation and show how the idea of opportunity cost might be relevant to that choice. [6]
 - (c) Analyse how a person's earnings are likely to change during their working life. [4]
 - (d) Discuss why different occupations have different rates of pay. [6]
- 4 Australia's unemployment rate fell to 5.5% in May 2004, the lowest for 23 years. At the same time total employment decreased to 9.6 million. Full-time jobs decreased by 42 600 but part-time employment rose by 1500. The shift from employment in agriculture and manufacturing to services has continued.
- (a) Calculate the change in total employment. (Show your working). [2]
 - (b) Explain why the pattern of employment might change. [8]
 - (c) The above extract says that the unemployment rate fell yet the numbers employed decreased. Explain how these statements can both be true at the same time. [3]
 - (d) Discuss the economic consequences of unemployment. [7]

- 5 (a) Distinguish between the private sector and the public sector of an economy. [3]
- (b) Discuss the disadvantages of allocating resources through the public sector. [7]
- The Singapore government plans to build Asia's first airport dedicated to serving low-cost airlines. Its estimated cost is $26.5 million and it will be designed to handle about 2.7 million passengers each year.
- (c) When airports are planned, there are usually some people who campaign to stop them being built. What disadvantages might the building of an airport have? [4]
- (d) A government is considering paying for a similar airport by either increasing income tax or introducing a specific (flat-rate) tax on air passengers. Discuss which of these you would favour. [6]
- 6 A recent journal article stated that poor nations should be allowed to protect their new industries from foreign competition.
- (a) Explain what indicators might be used to determine that a nation is poor. [8]
- (b) Describe what methods might be used to protect industries from foreign competition in international trade. [5]
- (c) Discuss whether it is better for a country to engage in free trade or to use some form of protection from foreign competition. [7]
- 7 (a) The rate of population growth in developed countries is often different from the rate of population growth in developing countries. Explain why this might be so. [5]
- (b) Sometimes a government might try to limit the growth in the population of its country. Explain why it might want to do this. [4]
- (c) As countries become more economically developed, there is a change in the relative importance of the different sectors of production. Describe what this change might be. [5]
- (d) In many developed countries there will be a large increase in the proportion of older people during the next 10 to 15 years. Discuss how governments might deal with this situation. [6]
